

1. According to the Reverend Andrew Sandlin at The Chalcedon Foundation Christian Libertarianism means: "The view that, in terms of jurisdiction, life should be lived in maximum individual freedom under God's law."

Well I was going to put a list of definitions here in the spirit of having a "free and open market" in definitions, but after a half-hour, this was the only one I could find. Like I said elsewhere, though, if you have another one, I'll be only too glad to include it here.
